Assignment 2
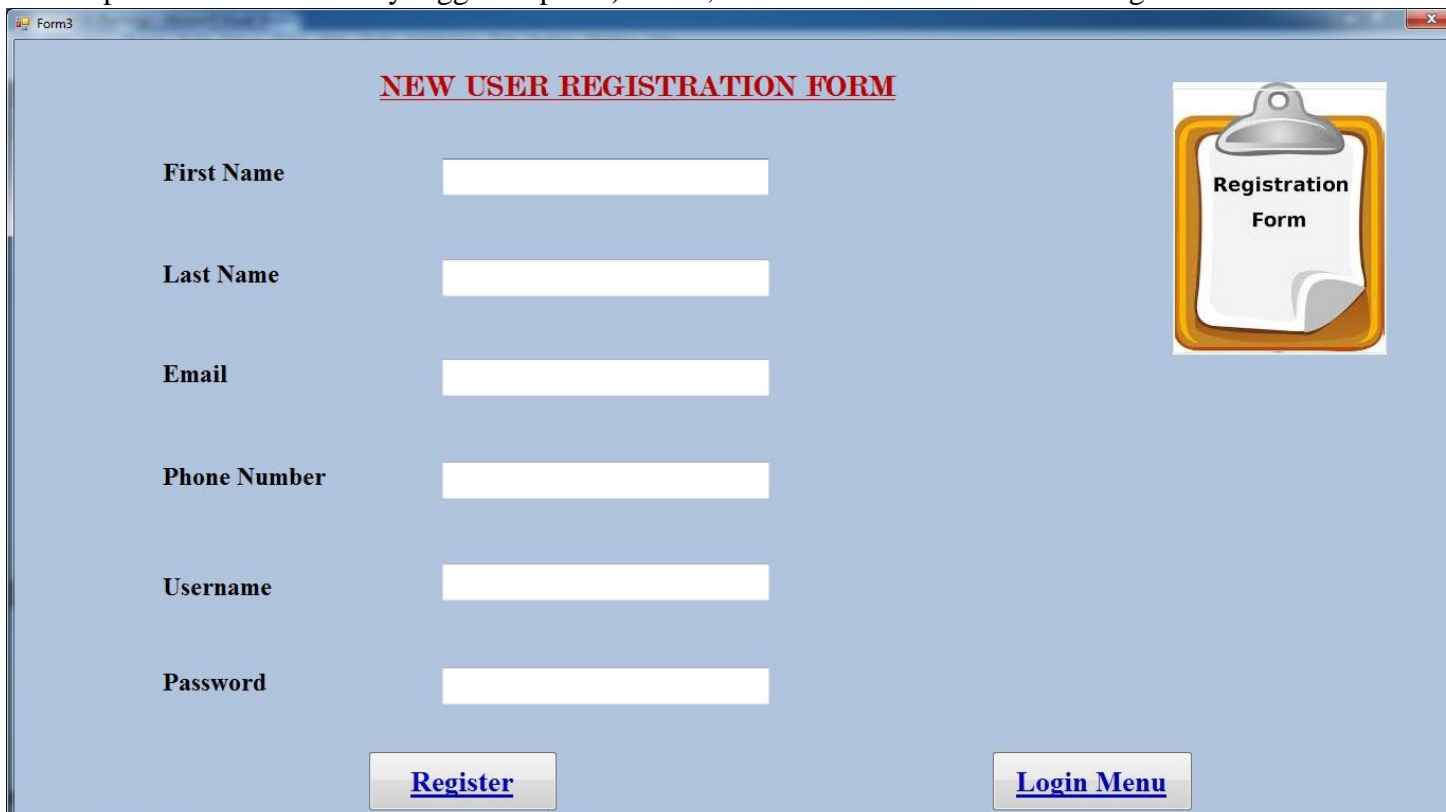

a) Implement a loop or a list box to print all the contents of the array with ten items (mum , daddy, donkey , cow , fish , goat , bird , pot , car , food) and prints the respective position of the items   [5]

b) Write a windows application program that prompts a user to enter distance in Km , and the system converts the Km into miles and vice versa (make use of a drop down menu) . [8]

c)   Design a form and below use username : muyambo   password : 1234 (encrypted) , if the username and password failed to match , a message box should show " login details in valid"   [8]

d) Mini Project   [50]
   After a person has successfully logged in part c) above, the user should see the following form

After the login details are all completed and when the button register is pressed, the details are supposed to be stored in a Microsoft Access database, but consequently the form is cleared and is now ready to enter more student details. When a user press the login Menu, they are taken back to the login in form in part c)